How Child Safe Standards and the Reportable Conduct Scheme work together to keep children safe from abuse

In 2012, the Victorian Government initiated an inquiry into the handling of child abuse allegations within religious and other non-government organisations. The Betrayal of Trust Report, which detailed the inquiry findings, was tabled in parliament in 2013.

The Betrayal of Trust Report made a range of recommendations, including the need to better protect children from child abuse when they access services provided by organisations. Child Safe Standards and the Reportable Conduct Scheme are part of the Victorian Government’s commitment to implementing these recommendations.

Child Safe Standards and the Reportable Conduct Scheme create distinct sets of responsibilities for organisations, but have been designed to complement one another. Together, Child Safe Standards and the Reportable Conduct Scheme strengthen the capacity of organisations to prevent and respond properly to allegations of child abuse.

Child Safe Standards

- Broader scope of organisations
- Focusses on organisations and preventative systems
- Flexible in their application
- Enables reportable conduct to be identified and reported

A system to promote child safety, prevent child abuse and respond properly to suspected child abuse.

Reportable Conduct Scheme

- Narrower scope of organisations
- Focusses on employee conduct
- Prescribes specific actions that must be taken by the head of entity
- Ensures reportable conduct is properly investigated and responded to

A system to independently oversee responses to suspected child abuse.

The Commission for Children and Young People has oversight and regulatory responsibility for both Child Safe Standards and the Reportable Conduct Scheme.

Where organisations have an existing funding and/or regulatory relationship with the Victorian Government or statutory bodies, the Commission will work collaboratively with and through these bodies. The Commission will work closely with those sectors not currently subject to regulation.

Child Safe Standards

Child Safe Standards focus on organisations and what they do to promote child safety, prevent child abuse and respond to suspected child abuse. They apply to a broad range of organisations and businesses that provide services to children, or engage children to produce goods or services. The standards provide a framework for organisations to develop policies, procedures and strategies that embed a culture of child safety into everyday thinking and practice, and reduce the risk of child abuse being perpetrated by an employee, volunteer or contractor. They are flexible, allowing organisations to develop an approach to compliance that is relevant and sustainable. The Commission is able to monitor and enforce compliance with the standards.

There are seven standards and three principles that organisations must considered.

1. Strategies to embed an organisational culture of child safety
2. A child safe policy or statement of commitment to child safety
3. A child safety code of conduct
4. Screening, supervision, training and other human resources practices that reduce the risk of child abuse
5. Procedures for responding to and reporting suspected child abuse
6. Strategies to identify and reduce or remove risks of child abuse
7. Strategies to promote child participation and empowerment

Principles
- Promote the cultural safety of Aboriginal children
- Promote the cultural safety of children from culturally and/or linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Promote the safety of children with disability

The Reportable Conduct Scheme

The Reportable Conduct Scheme is focussed on worker and volunteer conduct and how organisations investigate and respond to suspected child abuse. The scheme aims to improve organisational responses to suspected child abuse and to facilitate the identification of individuals who pose a risk of harm to children, but do not have a criminal record.

The scheme applies to some organisations required to meet the Child Safe Standards – those with a high level of responsibility for children – and sets out specific obligations for the heads of these organisations.

The head of the organisation must ensure that there are systems in place that:
- prevent reportable conduct from being committed
- enable reportable allegations to the made to the head of the organisation
- enable reportable allegations that involve the head of the organisation to reported to the Commission.

Adopting a continuous improvement approach to keeping children safe from child abuse

An allegation of reportable conduct may reveal information about the effectiveness of the systems used by an organisation to prevent child abuse and respond to allegations of child abuse. This information can be used to improve your systems and better protect children from child abuse.

Where to get help

Organisations covered by the Reportable Conduct Scheme should contact the Commission for clarification and guidance, and to talk through any issues of concern.
